

Kenesaw Public Schools
Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act

According to the Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act, Kenesaw Public directory information in regard to your child can be published unless you wish to restrict information. It is important to note that KPS makes every effort to safeguard the privacy of our students. We do not release student information for unofficial business.

Examples of directory information include: student name, home address, telephone number, birth date, student photos or videos, and school work.

Examples of publications include: yearbooks, music and sports programs, honor roll, bulletin boards, school newsletters, student directories, web sites, award listings, birthday lists, press releases, YouTube, TeacherTube, KPS video productions, and social media. In addition, the press often covers special school events for the newspaper or television.

Please check and sign the form below and return it to the school.
This form will be in effect for the duration of your child's attendance at Kenesaw Public Schools.
